WHAT

powerful and convincing evidence of the value of Beecham's Pills is to be found in one plain fact—that of their world-wide popularity! In the Oid World and in the Now World, in the Eastern Hemisphere as in the Western, proof of the remarkable efficacy of this excellent preparation is to be found in abundance. Everybody speaks well of Beecham's Pills; everybody praises them! The explanation of this miteersal approval lies in the simple fact that are the real thing and not a make-believe remedy. They do not disappoint the person that perseveres with them. In the treatment of the various aliments to which the directive system is subject, this medicine has proved a great success. Platulence, biliousness faulty direction heartharn, sick headaches, constitution, lack of energy, and many other indications of directive derangement yield very speedily to the healing and curative treatment of Beecham's Pills. You cannot do better than try them. Beecham's Pills mean health and happiness to very many—see what they will

BEECHAM'S

SPORTING NEWS.

PROGRAMME FOR TO-DAY.

1.45 THE HARE HILL PLATE of 100 sovs.
A handicap. 6f. 63 yds. CURRAGH MEETING-YESTERDAY. GOOD PERFORMANCE BY LISNALINCHY.

The second stage was carried through in delightful weather, and the company, which included a very large number of soldiers from the camp, were treated to another excellent day's racing. If fields were not quite as strong numerically as on Tuesday they were by enough, and the sport sufficiently exciting to satisfy the most exacting.

Although there were seventeen starters for the Paddock Plate this event seemed to be regarded in the light of a match between Doria (who finished second to Off the White here last mouth) and Forty-One, the latter of whom was backed to win quite a lot of money. He was fractious at the post, where he threw his jockey, and galloped nearly the full course before being caught, and in the race proved a negligible quantity. On the other hand, Doria siways held a nice place, and, coming right away, wen in smart style from Bally-rusheen, who was running on at the end. Semper idem, Lady Lachine, and Suvia Bay monopelised the wagering on the Waish's Hill Stake, and the trio filled the leading positions at the finish, but in the reverse order to which they were fancied, and Suvia Bay evicory was most decisive.

The debutante, Mexico, was cupported with plenty of confidence for the Beginners' Stake, and the two recent winners. Z. and Arkaman, were also well seed, while Eliferion also had a strong following. The last-named showed a fine burst of speed, and held a commanding lead for nearly four, furions, when he began to swerve badly, and Z.Z. catching Mexico inside the distance, scored with plenty in land.

Class was well represented in the Waterford Plate. GOOD PERFORMANCE BY LISNALINCHY.

Mexico inside the distance, sourced with plenty in hand.

Class was well represented in the Waterford Plate, which was provocative of some spirited wagering, but Lisnalinchy aiways dominated the market, and he fully justified the confidence of his partisans. Indeed, the Conyaigham Lodge cost smashed up the opposition in unimpeachable style, and the son of Captivation is beyond question a smart three-year-old, who should do further useful service for Sir Thomas Dixon. Chelsho, who cost his connections dearly at Limerlek last week, effected a turn up in the Newbridge Plate, for which Strolling Saint left off in most demand, but he could do no better than fill third birth behind Father Creeper, who was fast overhanding Chelsho at the close, and would have won in another few strides. A short price was taken about inconstant George for the Offaly Plate, and he ran a good horse, beating overything except Ballinacarrig, who was in receipt of 33lb., and now did a well deserved turn for that staunch supporter of racing and breeding, Mr. B. M. Slocock, whose colours are not often seen to the fore. Details:—

THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1917.

The Vote of Credit. Mr. Bonar Law yesterday moved a Vote of Credit for the sum of five hundred million pounds-the largest sum which has ever been asked for in a single Vote. The amount of the last Vote has been expended more rapidly than was anticipated. The figures of its disbursement disclose a daily average expenditure at the rate of nearly two million pounds in excess of the Budget estimate. Fortunately, this increase is not in the case of the latter, will come back taining at high pressure the machinery during the current year. Mr. Bonar Law, that produces army horses. The German War Office has informed the German he desires a Vote which will supply the Jockey Club that uninterrupted training Government until the beginning of August and racing are desirable in the interests of does not feel justified in asking for less the army's horse-breeding requirements does not feel justified in asking for less than five hundred million pounds, estimated on a daily average of rather less than six and a half million pounds. During the period covered by the last Vote of Gredit, on the ex- these facts and proposals. The value of this gigantic new factor of reserve financial power which is now placed at the disposal of the Allies cannot yet be estimated, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer is clearly right in making his plans without reference to it. It is reasonable to hope, however, that the entrance of the United States into the war Mr. Hughes himself was, of course, the

The American Government, as Mr. Bonar
Law said, has shown not only that it is preparing to organise the full strength of the nation, but that it realises the value

In the Senate, tion and equipment of a military force which would not be ready for months, and, secondly, that, when it was ready, the submarine campaign would have made its transport to Europe impossible. In this calculation the enemy are going to be disappointed. The American Government does indeed control of the Liberal Party and the House of Representatives, and Mr. Bonar Law stated definitely to-day that the Prime Minister would make his that the Prime Minister would have and the prime his t the munitions industry would be diverted however, where there was only a small does, indeed. contemplate the despatch of a small force to "show the flag" in Europe as soon as possible; but its first resolve is to increase its contribution to the Allies while it prepares to add a new effort of its own. It sees from the outset that the foundation of its enterprise must be a mobilisation of finance and industry to support those countries which already are fully in the field. In the fortnight which has elapsed since the British and French missions arrived complete agreement has been reached on the immediate lines of action. Mr. Bonar Law announced yesterday that "the American Government, with a promptitude for which we cannot be too grateful, has not only promised, but has actually afforded, financial assistance to the Allies." That assistance may take two forms. In the first place, Great Britain may be relieved of the burden of making advances to the Allies in respect of their American purchases. In the next place, the cost of their American purchases and ours, which, under ordinary market conditions, have involved a rise in prices against us as our demands increased, may be reduced by Government action. At the same time the output of munitions under Government control will be increased out of all proportion to the output of firms privately controlled. American industry will be mobilised as effectively in the Allies' support as American finance, and of the latter's capacity we get some measure in the overwhelming response to the first ment. issue of the "Liberty Loan." These are only the first instalments of American aid. They will be followed by the employment of weapons which will tend to shorten the war by convincing the Germans of two facts—first, that the submarine campaign can be defeated:

Mr. BONAR LAW—I am glad to learn that the hon member for Waterford (Mr. Redmond) hopes to be able to be in his place by the middle of next week, and as I understand that it is the wish of the party which he represents that he should be present when the statement is made, the Prime Minister proposes to make his statement on Thursday of next week. (Hear, marine campaign can be defeated; hear.) secondly, that a great new reserve of manpower will be available if the war endures into the winter. Racing in Ireland. The Government's decision on the coninuance of racing in this country may be Ireland for the period of the war. Our own attitude in the matter is that which our readers will have expected from us. For all loyal citizens the winning of the war is the only thing that counts. What-Irish industry must suffer in order that the war may be won-well, it must suffer, and there is no more to be said. The 7, 9, & 10 DAWSON ST., DUBLIN. Cabinet will not make its final decision, however, without considering all the facts. Certain representations have been made 2.22 to it by Irishmen whose authority on all subjects connected with the breeding and training of horses is as unquestionable as their zeal for victory. The Government seems to have taken an exaggerated view of the number of racehorses in Ireland and of the amount of food fit for human use which they consume. The actual number of horses in training is 923, and they consume during the training season a quantity of oats which would yield not more than 600 tons of oatmeal. Against this loss of human food must be set the destitution which would fall upon a large number of Irish families as the result of the dislocation of a great industry. It is quite fair to ask the Cabinet to consider whether the food situation, as explained by Lord Devonport on Tuesday, would be made more dangerous by the loss of 600 tons of oatmeal than by the results of this inevitable volume of destitution. Its decision cannot fail to be affected by the readiness of the Irish horse-breeders to reduce the number of horses in training to 460, and thus the amount of oatmeal. which represents their consumption, to 300 tons. The argument which must have most weight with the Cabinet, however, concerns not only the conduct of the war, but the general efficiency of the British Army. The fact that for most people racing is an amusement-and, when they are foolish, an unprofitable amusementmust not be allowed to obscure its importance as an apparently indispensable factor in the production of the best army horses. Our cavalry have fought magnificently in the war, partly because they have the finest horses in the world. The breeding of the best cavalry horses is based on the thoroughbred stallion, and racing seven and a half million pounds, or about is the only means by which his real merits can be tested. All other nations are indebted to the enterprise of private so alarming as it appears at first sight. breeders in Great Britain and Ireland for

Part is due to a greater expenditure on account of munitions, for which, as Mr. Bonar Law showed in his cheerful review of the operations beyond Arras, we are getting an excellent return. The largest part is due to advances to our Allies and Dominions, which, in the case of the latter, will come back MR. KIPLING IN ITALY.

RATHDOWN GUARDIANS RESORT TO LAW. Yesterday, at the meeting of the Rathdown Board of Guardians—Mr. T. Mr. McKenna said so little about this when supporting the vote that I imagine that he has been given information, not imparted to the House, which has satisfied him that the expenditure was inevitable.

The real position of affairs can hardly be concealed much longer from the inhabitants of Germany itself. It seems certain that there is a serious crisis taking place now in the internal affairs of Germany, for it is rumoured that Bethmann-Hollweg has tendered his resignation to the Kaiser, and that he will be succeeded by Count Hertling, the Prime Minister of Bavaria. It is the latter personage who is credited with the authorship of an article recently published declaring that Germany would want no indemnity if she got her ships and Colonies back and liberty to trade freely after the war. The announcement that Captain Bathurst is not resigning his post as Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Controller follows quickly upon the announcement that meatless days are to be dropped. The statement will be received with satisfaction, for Captain Bathurst has done very well in a most difficult position, and is expected to do still better as the need approaches. It is virtually certain that a big demand will be made upon the Food Controller's department as the summer grows older, though it is a matter for satisfaction that the consumption of bread and cereals is growing less.

It must be admitted that there is much dissatisfaction concerning the abolition of racing and the threatened State purchase of the liquor trade. Many people hold the view that these measures are quite uncalled for in time of war, and that they are an attempt to rush legislation that would not be endured in time of peace. It is pointed out that racing is peace. It is pointed out that racing is still taking place in enemy countries, hard pressed as they are, and that its continu-ance here in a modified form could harm nebody. This feeling. nobody. Born at Leeds in 1856, the deceased nobleman succeeded his uncle, the first Baron Grimthorpe, in 1905. He was formerly partner in Beckett and Co., bakers, Leeds, and as Mr. Ernest Beckett represented Whitby in the Conservative interest for twenty years. He is succeeded in the title by his only son, Captain the Hon. Ralph Beckett.

MILITARY OFFICER'S DEATH IN

Captain R. W. H. Mitchell, Inniskilling Fusiliers, was found in bed in Ebrington Barracks, Londonderry, yesterday morning, dying from a revolver shot wound through the brain, while in his right hand he clasped a revolver. The deceased officer, who was 45 years of age, was a son of the late Brigade-Surgeon Mitchell, Londonderry, and his wife resides at Cheltenham. He served in the South African campaign, and returned to Londonderry from France three weeks ago, suffering from nephritis. According to the evidence at the inquest, he was nervous, depressed, and irritable, and anxious to get back to his poultry farm outside London, as he thought that it was going to ruin. He was to have transferred to Lenane Fort, County Donegal, yesterday morning, and

AN ALARMING FEATURE.

But the alarming feature of these figures is that this total represents a daily average expenditure of $7.459.000.

The House will remember that only a day of two ago I estimated the adult expenditure, for the whole year at about $5 \text{ millions. It is, therefore, in the first period of this year, year about two millions more. I need not say that when my attention was called to these figures I immediately had a most complete examination made into the expenditure in the first period of this year, I did that, not only for the purpose of finding out what the expenditure has been higher. I have had that examination made, and I wish now to give the result. In the first place, of the expenditure for the thirty-five days from April 1 to May 5 £2,000,000 and year from April 1 to May 5 £2,000,000 and the period of the Vote of Credis.

Last year the total amount of daily expenditure was £4,220,000. This year, in the period I have spoken of it was £7,450,000. The advances to Allies and Dominions in the first period were £1,490,000, and in the second period approximately £2,000,000. But the largest increase, as might be expected, was in the Army, Navy, and munitions, where the daily expenditure in the first period was £2,380,000, and for the last period 4,540,000.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

AN IRISH SENSATION. AN IRISH SENSATION.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes:—A sensation has been created in political circles by the manifesto against any partition of Ireland (even temporarily) which has been issued by a large majority of the Catholic Hierarchy in Ireland, and is signed also by three Irish Bishops of the Protestant Church. It was expected that the Prime Minister next week would announce the decision of the Government to put the Home Rule Act into operation, with a provise enabling any county in Ulster to contract itself out of its operation. This would have been a simple and democratic way of surmounting the Ulster obstacle. But the Eniscopal manifesto has apparently been a specially devised to frustrate, in advance, such a declaration of policy.

GERMAN U BOAT

A Reuter's Amsterdam telegram says:—
The Reichstag on Wednesday began the second reading of the Naval Estimates. The Reporter, Herr Pfleger, expressed the Committee's unreserved recognition and greatest thanks for the heroic achievements of the Navy. The Battle of Jutland, he said, took from the British Fleet the nimbus of invincibility.

Admiral von Capelle, Secretary of State for the Navy, said the U boats have enthusiastically faced the great task of decisively intervening alongside our fictorious armies. I assure you the U boats will persevere unto the end. We have the necessary boats, a trained personnel, fuel, and all accessories. Thousands and thousands of hands are actively engaged in producing new U boats, and new material for torpedoes and mines. Not only is the number of U boats continually increasing, but boats are always improving in quality, always better types of ever greater efficiency are being constructed. Officers, under officers, and men crowd forward for U boat service. Of course losses also occur. Our enemy's defences are increasing in quantity and quality, but there is no radical remedy against U boats. In England it was said: we must smoke out the bases. That is the sole means of mastering the U boats. Let them but come and try. They will bite granite. (Loud applause greeted these utterances.)

Continuing, Admiral von Capelle said our U boats, after the beginning of the unrestricted aubmarine warfare, adapted themselves to the peculiarities of this warfare, and are gaining ever greater experiences, and are receiving ever better armament and equipment. Much talk is going on in the British Parliament. The decisive fact is the continuously-increasing monthly successes, which are such as we ourselves hardly expected. Reports in the enemy Press about the number of U boats lost are false. (Hear, hear.) Our losses are small.

The Cleansing Committee have also on various occasions, from 1903 down to the present time, endeavoured to make arrangements for the disposal of waste paper, but, as it had to be sent across the water, the cost of freight and handling made this work also unprofitable. The paper scarcity caused by the war created a temporary market, however, and the Cleansing Committee at once availed themselves of it. At the beginning of March last year a circular was issued by the Committee to the residents and traders of the city asking them to put the waste paper into sacks, which the Committee offered to supply free of charge, instead of into the bins. Arrangements were made to call regularly for the sacks as filled, and the paper was disposed of at a price which covered the cost of collection, etc. For a few months the Committee collected a fair quantity, but for at least six or seven months past the collection of waste paper seems to have been abandoned in most cases. The Committee made a fresh appeal two months ago, drawing the attention of the public to the fact that, when waste paper is put into the bins and mixed with sloppy refuse, it becomes practically useless, and attention was also drawn to the fact that the large quantity of waste paper deposited in the bins was scarcely a less nuisance at the Fairview tipping-ground than previous to the war. The Committee greatly regret that their appeal has had very little effect, and that, despite all their efforts, very many tons of good paper are wasted every week.—Youre, etc.,

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Every man in Ireland possessing land has been impressed with the importance of growing at much crops as possible to avert a threatened famine in the future, and has been promised facilities for the protection and suces of the crops. Birds—particularly rooks and pigeons—do much injury here at seed time by picking up the grain, and the only effectual means I have of scaring these birds is by shooting. On about the 15th April I applied for some gun cartridges, but was refused. On the

At present no inducement is given them to pay the second instalment before the actual due date. It may interest Mr. Beason to know that, during a course of nearly five weeks which have been devoted to the study of birds, I have not met more than half a dozen song thrushes and only found the nest of one. In the evening and morning, when all the birds were singing. I only twice heard the song thrush. At this place song thrushes used to be very numerous, but they were noticed in large numbers this winter in a dying condition. Now there are hardly any. The extraordinary thing is that, although I have found the remains of many species. I have not come across those of a single song thrush. The blackbirds are as numerous as in former years, but in places where, in spring, I have seen and heard many snipe, hardly one exists this year.—Yours, etc., spring, I have seen and heard many superhardly one exists this year.—Yours, etc.,

DEALINGS IN LONDON MARKET.

THE IRISH TIMES, THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1917. DULL.

IMPROVEMENT TOWARDS THE CLOSE. SATISFACTORY WAR NEWS. (FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.) LONDON, WEDNESDAY.

The Stock Exchange was lacking in sustained activity, and most of the leading departments activity, and most of the leading departments of the House did not show to advantage during the greater part of the session. The opening lacked cheerfulness, the reverse at Fresnoy having some adverse effect upon sentiment. There was no pressure to sell in any direction, and the satisfactory official news from the Western front this afternoon was responsible for a brighter close. The Russian situation was being watched with much caution and anxiety. The 5 p.c. War Loan was easier at the outset in connection with the payment of to-day's instalment, but it rallied, and closed unchanged. The 3½ p.c. Loan advanced i to 6½, and the Inconvertible 4½ p.c. Loan at 91½ was ½ to the good. Miscellaneous gilt-edged Securities were mostly on the Kirm side. ALLIED BONDS LESS CHEERFUL.

ALLIED BONDS LESS CHEERFUL.

In the Foreign market business was at a low ebb. Allied Bonds were lacking in sustained cheerfulness, though their undertone was not unfavourable. Russian Fives gave way ½ to 81. Japanese quotations were steady. Light investment support was extended to Chinese issues, and well distributed. South American Securities were slow, but fairly firm. Brazilian Bonds met a light inquiry. Mexican Loans were firm. HOME RAILS INACTIVE. In the Home Railway market there was not enough support to counteract light realising, but losses in quotations were nowhere of important AMERICANS FAIRLY STEADY.

AMERICANS FAIRLY STEADY.

The American market was fairly steady in sympathy with Wall street, but quotations receded moderately here and there after yesterday's rise. Chesapeakes and Denver Pref. were each put back a dollar to 61 and 31 respectively. Denver Common drooped ½. CANADIANS AND MEXICANS IMPROVE.

CANADIANS AND MEXICANS IMPROVE.

Canadian Pacifics showed a moderate degree of firmness, and were finally a small fraction higher at 174½. Grand Trunk Stocks were flat throughout. The senior Pref. gave way 3 on balance, and other quotations followed up their recent fall with fresh declines ranging from ½ to 1½. Mexican Rails held steady. One or two Argentine Rails lost ½ to ½. Weekly traffics were poor. INDUSTRIALS UNCERTAIN.

INDUSTRIALS UNCERTAIN.

In the Miscellaneous and Industrial market there were few outstanding features. Coats, in the Textile -roup, weakened *r to 64*. Courtaulds were dull. In the Supply group there was a fall of *r' to 23* in Harrods Ord. Eastmans fell 6d. to 6/8. Lyons finished unchanged, after being back to 71/3. Liptons were steady, and rather over 16/*. British and Argentine Meat changed hands around 21/*. In the Shipping section, P. and O. Def. was put back 2 to 317*. Royal Mails held their ground. Prince Line closed dull at 72/*. Khedivial Mails held their ground. Armaments were quiet and listless. As regards Breweries, Guinness Ord: did not vary, but the Pref. rose 1 to 105.*
